

“Stepping Up Your Fathering Game” The Fathering Forum Half Day Event

Being a father is exciting, exhilarating, and fulfilling, as well as challenging and exhausting. And where better than in the company of other fathers to learn what works in becoming and being the best father each of us can be for our own children and all children? The Fathering Forum Half Day is a place to do just that.

The purpose of the Fathering Forum Half Day is simple but profound:
We will explore how we were fathered and how our fathering skills to be different to meet the needs of children today. We will bring awareness to making conscious decisions about what you want to pass on to your children.
